NOT A SICK DAY
For Over Thirty Years!
RESULT OF USING
AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—as a result of constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, neuralgia, or boils and other eruptive diseases. When I became convinced that nine-tenths of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills, with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who had been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I had noticed that nearly all their ailments were preceded by constipation, and I soon had the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. WETTSTEIN, Byron, Ill.

The Smoker's Paradise.

The whole Philippine archipelago is the smoker's paradise. Quantities of tobacco of the finest flavors grow in tropic luxuriance on the uplands, and every one is an adept at smoking. Boys and girls of 10 use the weed hourly and roll their own cigars with the deftness of their parents. It is a common sight to see in the streets of Manilla father and mother sauntering along with enormous cigars in their mouths and followed by five or six children, varying in ages from 10 to 20, all smoking. At the little theater in Manilla, where a few performances are given in each winter's season, every one smokes, and the roof is so arranged that the smoky air can pass quickly away. In every home, whether in the country or in the heart of Manilla, there are always heaps of dried tobacco leaves, tied in bunches, upon the floor or in a shed near the house, and the provident Tagal lays in a stock of tobacco for household purposes several times a year as carefully as the American does the family supply of potatoes or flour. Strange as it may seem, very little tobacco is exported, and the reason given is that the Spanish, for their own reasons, have discouraged and ruined the exportation of the weed.—New York Times.

First Water Diamonds.

"What do I mean by the expression 'first water?' The expression 'first water' when applied to a diamond denotes that it is free from all traces of color, blemish, flaw or other imperfection, and that its brilliancy is perfect. It is, however, frequently applied to stones not quite perfect, but the best that the dealer has, and they may be of only second quality. It is almost impossible to value a diamond by its weight only. Color, brilliancy, cutting and the general perfection of the stone have all to be taken into account. Of two stones, both flawless and of the same weight, one may be worth $600 and the other $12,000. Exceptional stones often bring unusual prices, while 'off color' stones sell from $60 to $100 a caret, regardless of size. The poor qualities have depreciated so much in value that some are worth only from one-tenth to one-fourth what they were worth 20 years ago. This is specially true of large stones of the second or third quality."—Chicago Record.

Carlyle's Hero Worshipers.

Here is another Carlyle story, told by Mr. Nicholas: "The people about Chelsea," he said, "did not pay much attention to him, but a good many persons, mostly Scotchmen, used to come down here. They used to ask me when he generally came out and would wait for a chance of seeing him. I remember a Scotchman who said he would give £10 for five minutes' talk with Carlyle. Then there was a young fellow I heard of, a clerk in Glasgow, who came in his holiday (it was only a few days) and waited about here till he saw the old man, with his slouch hat and big cloak and long stick, come out leaning on his niece's arm. Carlyle was very fond of children. There are a good many young people in the parish who are very proud of the fact that he used to take them on his knee, and he had always a pat on the head for them when he passed."—Westminster Gazette.

She Was Sorry.

He had been worshiping her for months, but had never told her, and she didn't want him to. He had come often and staid late—very late—and she could only sigh and hope. He was going away the next day on a holiday, and he thought the last night was the time to spring the momentous question. He kept it to himself, however, until the last thing. It was 11:30 by the clock, and it was not a very rapid clock.

"Miss Mollie," he said tremulously, "I am going away tomorrow."

"Are you?" she said, with the thoughtlessness of girlhood.

"Yes," he replied. "Are you sorry?"

"Yes, very sorry," she murmured. "I thought you might go away this evening."

Then she gazed at the clock wistfully and said good night.—Exchange.

A Reasoner.

"There, Willie," said the lad's mother, "is 10 cents for you. Now, what are you going to do with it?"

"Save it up to buy fireworks for the Fourth of July," replied the boy in a tone whose positiveness was almost defiant.

"Why, Willie, you know you are saving up your money to give to the heathen."

"Y-yes'm, but the Chinese are heathen, aren't they?"

"Yes, dear."

"And the Chinese make the firecrackers, don't they?"

"I am told they do."

"Well, then, the heathen'll get my money just the same, so it's all right."—Burlington (Ia.) Journal.

How Proud He Was.

Sir John Hopkins, admiral of the British fleet which came here on the occasion of the Columbian celebration of 1893, appeared on deck in a fine new uniform and said to Julian Ralph, who was his guest on the Blake at the time: "Will you look at me? I beg you to do me the favor to look at me." "Sir John," said Ralph, "I should think you would feel proud." "Pr-oud, me boy!" said Sir John; "I'm as pr-oud as a puppy dog with a gladiolus in his mouth."

Chivalry.

The word chivalry is from the French chevalerie, riders on horses. Chivalry as an institution was in its prime from about the beginning of the tenth century to about the close of the fifteenth. A century added for its growth and another for its decline will cover its total history.

Love Grown Cold.

She (reproachfully)—You said you would die for me.

He (stiffly)—I was referring to my whiskers, madam.—Detroit Free Press.

The Origin of Billiards.

In a letter dated 1750, which has been presented to the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris, a highly ingenious account is given of the origin of billiards. The writer declares that billiards were invented in England about the middle of the sixteenth century by a pawnbroker named Bill Kew. This man, it is alleged, used in his leisure moments to play on his counter with the three brass balls which he hung up as a sign. For a cue he had a yard measure, whence the term bill-yard, or Bill's yard, corrupted into billiards. This etymology will hardly satisfy Mr. Skeat, but it is at least curious as showing to what length the speculative etymologist is apt to go. The most astonishing thing about it, however, is the fact that it is the work of a Frenchman, who might have seen at a glance that billiards is merely a corruption of his own word "billiard," from "bille," a ball, the termination "ard" being perfectly regular and natural in the composition of a word intended to designate the table upon which the balls are used.—London Telegraph.

California Redwoods.

With the character and extent of California mountain forests most persons are tolerably familiar, as a large portion of them can be seen from the great interior valleys, the traveler also getting a glimpse of them when crossing over the Sierra by rail. But about the redwood lands situated far from the main lines of travel and difficult of approach few persons have much accurate information, and yet the tree growth here presents more that is calculated to interest and attract even the unscientific mind than anything found on the mountains, save only the few scattered groves of the Sequoia gigantea, our wonderful "big trees." With the exception of the latter, the average size of the redwood, the Sequoia sempervirens, greatly exceeds that of any other class of the conifers, the quantity of lumber they turn out to the acre being without any parallel elsewhere. The total product of the redwood forests of California amounts to about 35,0000,000 feet per year.—Wood and Iron.

As Many Laughs as There Are Vowels.

Laughter has long been recognized as the sole property of man and as that divine virtue of much suffering humanity which separates it distinctly from the lower beasts. No scientist has hitherto sought, however, to analyze this peculiar noise of mirth. It has remained for a Brussels investigator to decipher the philosophy of laughter. "There are as many laughs as there are vowels," he declares. "Persons who laugh on A laugh openly and frankly. The laugh in E is appropriate to melancholy persons. The I is the habitual laugh of naive, slavish, timid or irresolute persons. It is also the laugh of blonds. The O indicates generosity and hardihood. Shun like a pestilence those that laugh in U. It is the tone of misers and hypocrites." Beware, by all means of the laugh in U. It is thus that one may "laugh and laugh and be a villain still."—Exchange.

In the Same Boat.

Prompted by the feeling that it was his duty, the bishop remonstrated with one of his clergy for attending a local hunt.

"Well, your lordship," replied the offender, "I really do not see that there is any more harm in hunting than in going to a ball."

"I presume," answered his lordship, "that you refer to having seen my name down among those who attended Lady Somerville's ball, but I assure you throughout the whole evening I was never once in the same room as the dancers."

"That, my lord, is exactly how I stand—I was never in the same field as the hounds."

Then the bishop sat down, and silence reigned.—London Tit-Bits.

Don't Carry Out the Effect.

"Very few women are altogether consistent in their tailor rigs," remarked a masculine critic. "They are very apt to commit some little solecism in their dress that quite spoils the general effect. "I saw a funny sight today that was a case in point. A pretty girl rode past me on a very handsome horse. She wore a skirt and shirt and looked very nice, I thought, until her horse broke into a canter.

"Then suddenly up rose two excrescences on either side of her, which bobbed about in the most ridiculous manner. They were the big leg o' mutton sleeves of her shirt—very pretty and becoming in their place, but utterly absurd for riding. The effect as she galloped off ahead of me was indescribably funny."

Gentlemen and Cats Objectionable.

The following shows how the new woman is getting on. Not only have men lost their attractions for her, but mice, it would seem, have lost their terrors:

"Required, furnished apartments for nine ladies. Accommodation for bicycles. Gentlemen and cats objected to. Write B. O."

So far as the men are concerned, however, this strikes me as a little previous. Would it not have been better to wait and see whether any living man would dare to trust himself under the same roof with nine bicycling females? I feel confident that these vestals may dismiss their fears.—London Truth.

This Explains It at Last.

A greater number of men than of women become stout late in life. No satisfactory explanation is offered of this fact unless it be that the women are kept thin worrying about the men.—Somerville Journal.

A blow on the head seems to cause a flash of light in the eyes because light is the only impression the optical nerve is capable of receiving.

Battlefield Crémation.

In view of the terrific slaughter by means of the latest improved munitions of war it has been suggested that some steps must be taken toward providing for the removal of the dead which would so incumber the ground as to make action and locomotion extremely difficult. It has been proposed that crematories be started for the purpose of disposing of the dead. While it is clearly apparent that something must be done in this direction it seems an exaggerated form of brutality to dump the dead into crematory furnaces in this way. There is also the very gravest danger that careless and unfeeling employees may pick up men who are only stunned or who may have fainted and plunge them into the fiery vortex.

It is a well understood fact that men have lain for hours on the battlefield dead to all appearances, and such might easily be gathered up by ignorant or unobserving attendants and consigned to the flames. It would be very much better to prepare temporary receiving hospitals, where all men not absolutely shot to pieces could be removed and examined. Then the crematory might do good work. There is, however, a melancholy satisfaction to surviving friends in the idea that the bodies of their loved ones who have fallen in battle may be brought home to them and buried in the family vault. Battlefield crematories are not likely to come into general favor among people of delicate sensibilities.—New York Ledger.

He Was Posted.

In North Carolina the judges of the superior courts "rotate"—i. e., ride each circuit of the whole state in regular succession. When Judge Shipp of one of the mountain circuits in regular rotation came to ride a circuit on the seacoast, he was much pleased with clams, which were new to him. He had a clam supper, with the result that he had a most violent attack and could not hold court for two or three days. When able to sit on the bench, the first case tried was an affray in which one man used a pistol and the other knocked him down with a clam—the shell. Manly, appearing for the state, introduced a witness to prove that one clam so used was a deadly weapon. "Stop there, Manly," said the judge earnestly; "the court will hear evidence whether or not a pistol is a deadly weapon, but the court knows without further evidence that a clam is."—Green Bag.

Parting With a Leg.

An old soldier told a reporter of the most affecting parting he ever had in his life. It was a parting with himself, or rather a part of himself. He was in an engagement before Petersburg and had the misfortune to come in contact with a piece of broken shell which exploded near him, and which succeeded in shattering his leg. Amputation was necessary, and shortly after he was lying in his tent. As he looked up he saw a cart piled up with legs and arms of others who had been unfortunate in the engagement, and right on top he recognized his own leg. "It was a sad parting," he said, "to see a part of you going away never to be returned again. I can never tell you what strange feelings came over me, and to this day I can see that fine black horse hauling my leg away to its last resting place."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

An Improvement.

Jeweler—Here, sir, is a clock which will, I think, please æsthetic taste. At precisely 10 o'clock every morning a chime of bells rings, and a bird hops out and sings a carol.

Customer—I will take that if you will make a few changes in it.

Jeweler—With pleasure.

Customer—I have a daughter, and I wish the clock for the room where she entertains her company. Make it so that at 11 o'clock at night a milkman's bell will ring, and a newsboy will skip out and yell, "Morning papers!"—Jewelers' Circular.

The Poet's Reward.

It is amusing to know how small were the pecuniary rewards of Bryant's literary labors. Two dollars a poem was the price that he named, and he seemed to be abundantly satisfied with the terms. A gentleman met him in New York many years after and said to him, "I have just bought the earliest edition of your poems and gave $20 for it." "More, by a long shot," replied the poet, "than I received for writing the whole work."—Chicago Chronicle.

Kindly Fruits.

The expression in the prayer book, "Kindly fruits of the earth," has for most persons no definite meaning on account of the difference in significance now attached to the word kindly from that used when the expression was first written. The word kindly in that connection meant as nearly as possible "of its kind," and the expression "kindly fruits of the earth" meant "the fruits of the earth each after its kind."

Reading.

Never burden your mind with more than one thing at a time, and in reading this book do not run over it superficially, but read every passage twice over at least. Do not pass on to a second till you thoroughly understand the first, nor quit the book till you are master of the subject, for, unless you do this, you may read it through and not remember the contents of it for a week.—Lord Chesterfield.

DURRANT GUILTY.

A dispatch from San Francisco says that Durrant was found guilty yesterday afternoon of murder in in the first degree.

The jury was out only twenty minutes.

THE appointment by Governor Budd of W. T. Jeter as the successor of the late Lieutenant-Governor Millard has created considerable dissatisfaction.

GEORGE W. BOGGS, ex-City Treasurer of Tacoma, has been arrested for embezzling the funds of the city. It is estimated his shortage will will reach $200,000.

HOLMES, the murderer, on trial in Philadelphia for killing many people in different Eastern cities to obtain the insurance money on their lives is conducting his defense without the aid of lawyers.

Two Indians of the Okanagon reservation, Wash., kidnaped the 12-year-old daughter of James Poil, tied her upon the back of a pony and turned the animal loose. The little girl was found two days afterward in an unconscious state, and the country is being scoured for the two fiends.

THERE was a marriage in Stockton recently that was somewhat out of the ordinary. The groom was Chu Gun, a very bright Chinese, who conducts a saloon in Chinatown in that city in which all drinks are 5 cents, and the bride was Irene Wilson, a mulatto girl, aged 21, Gun has seen forty winters, but he does not appear to be that old. He was formerly a court interpreter at Fresno.

THE National Republican Convention can be secured for San Francisco if the people of California all pull together on the proposition. Her only formidable rival appears to be Pittsburgh, Pa. The claims of the latter city are being backed up by Senator Matt Quay, who while favoring the "spoty" city is really not working against San Francisco. If he can be won over on our side the principal stumbling block in the way of the the metropolis of the Pacific securing the prize will have been removed. What's the matter with booming Quay for the Presidency?

When the Chill Mists of the Morning

hang like a pall over the surface of the earth, it will be well for you before venturing into the raw vaporous air, charged, perhaps, with the seeds of malaria or provocative of rheumatic twinges, to take a wineglassful of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and thus shield yourself from atmospheric influences threatening to health. If you happen to get snowed, sleeted or rained upon, use the same preventive, and avoid the rheuma tism or a dangerous cold. The agreeable warmth infused into the circulation by this genial stomachic, its invigorating and regulating properties commend it to all appreciative of the fact that prevention is better than cure. Use the Bitters for dyspepsia, biliousness, nervousness and kidney trouble, sick headache and debility.

Shiloh's cure is sold on a guarantee. It cures incipient consumption. It is the best cough cure Only one cent a dose, 25c., 50c., and $1.00.

SCROFULA

Miss Della Stevens, of Boston, Mass., writes: I have always suffered from hereditary Scrofula, for which I tried various remedies, and many reliable physicians, but none relieved me. After taking 6 bottles of SSS I am now well. I am very grateful to you, as I feel that it saved me from a life of untold agony, and shall take pleasure in speaking only words of praise for the wonderful medicine, and in recommending it to all.

Attempted Safe Cracking.

On Wednesday night burglars entered the office of the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway Company at this place and made an unsuccessful attempt to crack the safe belonging to the company, which contained only about $50. An entrance was effected through the front door which was opened with a skeleton key. The burglars used a drill in their efforts to open the safe and two holes were bored in the lock into which was inserted a charge of powder which, however, had not been touched off, the crooks no doubt being frightened off. This is the third time in the past eight years that an unsuccessful attempt has been made to crack the same safe. The work each time was evidently done by amateurs. The burglars left no clew behind.

A Legend of the Vallejo Family.

In the early days of California, says the Overland Monthly, the daughters of the Lugos were sought in marriage by the best families of the State. It was a boast that they were even courted in the cradle, as when the young officer, Colonel Ignacio Vallejo, being in San Luis Obispo on the occasion of the birth of a daughter to the Lugos, asked her father for the hand of the day old baby, provided when the time came to fulfill the contract the senorita should be willing. This seemingly absurd betrothal took place. The child grew up to be an intelligent young woman, married her betrothed and became the mother to many children, among them the late General Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo.

Arrested and Admitted to Bail.

Frank Burris, Henry Bates and Dan Burris were arrested on Monday afternoon last by Deputy Sheriff Chas. Ohm, on a warrant sworn to by Clark Gaines, which charges them with assault to do great bodily harm. The accused were taken before Judge Cheney, who held them to answer before the Superior Court in bonds of $1500 for Frank Burris and $1000 each for the others. The bonds were immediately furnished. Young Gaines, at latest accounts, was slowly improving. It is said his broken leg will confine him to his home for several months.

Badly Burned.

Freddy, the little one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Duhring, had his hands badly burned last Thursday morning. The little fellow, who is just learning to walk, during the temporary absence of Mrs. Duhring from the room, took hold of the stove, which was almost red hot. His screams brought the mother to his side, who found Freddy still holding on to the stove with both hands. The burns are very severe but not sufficient to cripple the hands permenently.

Attention.

Prof. Heymann, the eye specialist and optician from Germany, will be at the Union Hotel, Sonoma, beginning Monday, October 7th, for one week, where he will treat, free of charge, all diseases of the eye. The professor will be in Sonoma regularly once a month and the public is kindly asked to consult him before accepting any kind of treatment. The permanent office and residence of the professor is at San Jose, California, where he has earned an enviable reputation as a high skilled oculist. *

To be Hanged.

Dennis McCarthy, recently convicted of murder in the first degree in the Superior Court of this county, will be sentenced to be hanged next Monday. It is thought, however, that he will secure a new trial, as he intends to take an appeal to the Supreme Court.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.

An Explanation from the High School Board.

ED. INDEX-TRIBUNE—Dear Sir:

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Sonoma Valley Union High School, held on October 26th, 1895, I, as Clerk of the Board, was instructed to inform you that you were misinformed when you stated in your paper that a majority of the members of the Board were not in favor of Trustee Woods' resolution relating to the purchase of the college building by the district for school purposes. The minutes of the meeting of October 5th show that said resolution was adopted unanimously, the following named gentlemen being present: Trustees Howe, Cady, Campbell, Woods and Glaister. I am informed that Trustee Dowdall came in after the resolution was adopted and also concurred in the same. I was not present. Had I been the vote would not have been unanimous, as the adoption of the resolution in its present form puts the Board on record as favoring the purchase.

I trust that you will give this communication due publicity through the medium of your paper, as the members of the Board are desirous of having their position in this matter clearly understood.

Your Obedient Servant,
FRED'K. T. DUHRING.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL---OTHER MATTERS.

[Contributed by Marjorie Dow.]

Items of a personal and social nature are thankfully received at this office and will be edited by Marjorie Dow.

Chas. McHarvey and his daughter Miss Sadie returned from the metropolis last Saturday evening.

Mrs. M. Akers visited her daughter, Mrs. Willie Cook, in San Francisco several days this week.

Capt. Oliver, accompanied by his little daughter, Miss Dorothy, visited San Francisco last Saturday.

Persons who find it "hard to wake up" in the morning, and accomplish it only after much struggling, yawning, and partial relapse, will find the difficulty disappear upon having their rooms well ventilated during the night.

Mrs. Granville Harris returned Saturday from a two weeks' visit with San Francisco relatives.

Wm. Durant and his daughter, Miss Ella, visited the city last week.

Black is the smartest color for Autumn hats, although brown—a very dark brown—is much worn also. Blue, gray and parti-colored straws have had their day, and at this time of the year are rarely seen.

Miss Pauline Bates spent last Sunday in Ukiah.

Miss Margaret Burke spent Saturday in San Francisco.

You didn't know salt would grow in a bowl, did you? Well, it will. Take a glass and fill it nearly full of salt; then water it every morning the same as you would a house-plant. After you water it the first day pour in a little of three or four prettily-colored inks In about a week the salt will begin to grow and will run over the cup and crystallize on the sides. The different colors of the ink blend, and the effect is strikingly beautiful.

G. H. Maxwell returned from Washington, D. C., this week.

Miss Nettie Goess is visiting relatives in Oakland.

A great musical enterprise is underway in San Francisco which will mark an epoch in the musical history of the coast. Two immense Festival Concerts are to be given at Mechanics' Pavilion in aid of San Francisco's most worthy charity, the Children's Hospital. A chorus of twelve hundred selected voices will be assembled from various parts of the State for the production of master choral works, and many singing societies are now in active rehearsal for the occasion. This immense chorus will be assisted by a large orchestra of professional musicians and there is also the promise of one or two noted vocalists. The affair will be c cial as well as a musical event. Boxes have been engaged at figur s as high as two hundred and fifty dollars, and the seats are to be disposed of at auction. This is a step in the right direction and it is to be hoped that hereafter the West will follow the example of the East in the matter of yearly festivals.

Dr. Alf. McLaughlin visited Sonoma last Sunday.

Mrs. Schiller and her daughter, Miss Leo, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Poppe last Sunday.

Mrs. Lincoln's formula for a dressing for orange salad is as follows: Beat the yolks of four eggs until very thick and light colored, then beat into them gradually one cupful of sifted powdered sugar and half a level teaspoonful of salt and beat until the sugar is dissolved. Add the juice of two lemons and beat again. Peel and slice thin six bananas. Peel four oranges, cutting close to the pulp, pick out the seeds, and slice them across in thin slices. Put into a deep glass dish a layer of bananas, then of the dressing, then of the orange, then again a layer of each, with the banana on the top, and pour the remainder of the dressing over it. Set on ice and serve very cold. — November Ladies' Home Journal.

Mrs. Geo. Campbell and her two daughters were shopping in San Francisco last Saturday.

A pound of bananas, it is said, contains more nutriment than three pounds of meat or as many pounds of potatoes, while, as a food, it is in every sense superior to the best wheaten bread. It is not generally understood that bananas fried, baked or roasted are very appetizing, and that sliced and placed in a dish, with alternate scices of orange, they make a most delicious dessert.

Fred. Batto of Vineyard station returned from a business trip to San Francisco last Wednesday.

Misses Terzilla and Lizzie Soldati of San Francisco returned home Tuesday morning after a two weeks visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Batto.

Miss Maud McGill pleasantly entertained a few of her friends Hallowe'en eve at her home on Napa street. The evening was spent in music, dancing and social converse.

M. K. Eagers, formerly a resident of Sonoma, died in Lee, Elko county, Nevada, recently.

Eden Dale, the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Howe, was the scene of a gay Hallowe'en party Thursday evening. The decorations were in every way appropriate to the occasion as were the other features of the evening. One of the principal amusements was "Bobbing for Apples" which enabled each young gentleman to secure a partner for the evening. The ill luck of some in securing this prize caused much amusement among the assembled guests and did also the revelation of their future. After this the merry party tripped the light fantastic until the announcement of refreshments when all marched to the large dining room where a Hallowe'en repast was partaken of. The rest of the evening was devoted to vocal and instrumental music, various games and social conversation. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Howe, Dora Howe, Zarifa Howe, Evelyn Waugaman, Benj. Weed, Richard Sims, Mabel Lowell, Florence Thompson, Frank Thompson, Mid. Glaister, Skelton Glaister, Cecilia Granice, Julie Granice, Anna Wadsworth, Chas. Cutter, Sadie Agnew, Lester Richmond, Grace Champlin, Chas. Julius Fochetti visited Petaluma Sunday.

Valente Filippini, son of Chas. Filiypini, is a student at the Santa Clara College.

On Friday evening of last week a merry party of young folks tendered Miss Anna Wadsworth a pleasant surprise party, at her home at "Three Oaks." The beautiful moonlight attracted many out of doors where they pleasantly whiled away the time in various ways. Social conversation, playing of games and vocal and instrumental music formed the principal features of the evening's entertainment. At midnight a delicious supper was served after which the playing of games was again renewed. The jolly company departed declaring themselves well pleased with the evenings' enjoyment. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wadsworth, Misses Mabel Sellers, Dora Howe, Nellie Potter, Lizzie Harper, Florence Thompson, Anna Wadsworth, Mabel Lowell, Grace Carmer, Zarifa Howe, Elsie Appleton, Emily Potter and Annie Dunn. Messrs. Carrol Prunty, Charley Cutter, Frank Thompson, Chas. Potter, Stewart Elliott, Skelton Glaister, Ernest Campbell, Ed. Morris, Steve Akers, Willie Dunn, Lester Richmond, Horace Appleton, Wm. Britenstein, Harry Dunn and Middleton Glaister.

With the coming of more freedom and privileges, old maids disappeared, and their place was taken by the bachelor girl, who rides, rows or cycles in perfect freedom and safety, and goes to business, in her office, or performs her duties in the home, healthier, happier, and in every way prepared to enjoy life, because she is free and has won the right to go forward with her brother and by his side. The snappy, snarling, simpering, silly old maid is gone, and we gladly give her farewell. The strong, red-cheeked, merry bachelor girl, has taken her place, and is welcomed with open arms, as it were.

A suggestion of the "caving" sleeve is found in the three-puffed affair, in which stiffening is conspicuous by its absence. The puffs are all softly drooping ones, and very full. It is quite an agreeable change from the horrors that have swelled out like haystacks on top of a woman's arm for the last three months. It is quite certain that sleeves will decrease in size.

Chas. Cheney spent two days of the past week in the metropolis.

We do not hear any one called an old maid any more, unless the speaker is an old fashioned person. It is a sign that we are advancing in civilization, and the right of a girl to marry, or to remain single, is left to her own choice, without remark. The unmarried woman of mature years is no longer an object of pity, who is held aloof from the society of young people, and if a girl elects to make her own living, and not take upon herself the burdens of matrimony, she is not thought the less of because of her choice.

T. C. Putnam, a prominent farmer of Vallejo Township, was in town Wednesday.

When sheets show age by splitting, they will last longer if torn down the middle, the selvage sides over seamed together, and the raw edges hemmed. This puts a seam up the center, a matter of small inconvenience.

Cabbage and cauliflower are the two vegetables that can never be cooked at home without the world knowing what you are going to have for dinner.

An excellent grease eradicator is made of the following ingredients: Ammonia, two ounces; soft water, one quart; saltpeter, one teaspoonful; fine soap, in shavings, one ounce; mix thoroughly and keep in a covered vessel. This recipe is a simple one, yet it has made millionaires of four men who have successfully controlled proprietary rights to use it.

The U. S. Gov't Reports show Royal Baking Powder superior to all others.

Lettuce cups are a pretty and dainty supper relish and are easily arranged. These are made of any cold fish shredded finely and mixed mayonnaise dressing; have ready small heads of lettuce; remove the outer leaves that are old and tough; fill each lettuce head with the minced fish and serve on individual plates; drop into each a little more of the dressing just before serving, until which time keep them all in the ice chest.

No people suffer so much from physical disabilities as those whose business requires little or no muscular exertion. The lack of exercise causes the liver to become sluggish and the result is constant Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness and Sick Headache. SONOMA INDEX - TRIBUNE.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, NOV. 2, 1895.

TO BE A MODEL.

She Wanted to Leave Housekeeping and Pose For Pictures.

Not very long ago, while a prominent artist was busy at his easel, the brass knocker rapped three times, and rising he opened the door. "Who is it?" he said, not very pleased at the interruption. "Do you want a model?" was the response.

He looked at her with the rapid glance of the man who knows the meaning of form and color and the value of every feature. Apparently there was nothing to recommend her. The face was not beautiful, the skin and features were coarse, there was no pomegranate on the lips, no rose petal on cheek nor shell tints in the ear. The hair was a dusty, yellow gray, the eyes dull and heavy, the mouth and jaw thick and hard. All of this detail he saw as she passed through the door uninvited.

"What are your recommendations?" he asked her half sneeringly.

"I have a good figure," she answered promptly.

"Are you a professional model?" was the next query.

"I have never posed at all," she replied. "I'm a housemaid. I read something in the paper about the lots of money the models made, and I thought I'd like it better than being out at service."

The artist looked at the young Irish woman a moment, and glancing about the room, wondering what to say to her, his eyes fell upon his half clad model seated upon the stand. "Miss B.," he said, "will you tell this young woman about the life? She wants to be a model."

Miss B., with an easy, natural movement, threw the end of her garnet velvet toga across her shoulders and gave the visitor such a lengthy description of the trials, hardships and troubles of a model's life in the studios that when she advised the artistically inclined housemaid "to go back to making beds and scrubbing and waxing floors" the latter concluded she had better "bear the ills she knew than fly to those she knew not of" and took her departure as abruptly as she had come.—Philadelphia Press.

DRAWING UP WILLS.

Lawyers Do Not Want Their Names Identified With the Documents.

That it takes a smart man to draw a will is an adage the respect for which in the legal fraternity is evidenced by the fact that few lawyers want to furnish visible evidence of their part in drawing up wills. It is perfectly easy for a man to hire a lawyer to draft his testament, of course, no matter how complicated its provisions may be. It is quite another thing to get the lawyer to witness it. He will not even allow clerks in his office to do so except perhaps where the client is an old or regular one. He wants him to go elsewhere to get the necessary attestations. There are exceptions to this unwritten rule, it is true, but it is pretty generally observed.

"Lawyers will not so admit it," said one of them, "but the true reason is they don't care to be identified with the instrument. It is about as difficult an undertaking as a lawyer can face to draw up a will where the bequests are surrounded with conditions that will close up all loopholes to a contest. Most testators know how they want to dispose of their estates, but it is exceedingly hard to express their wishes in a way that will leave no doubt when subsequently disappointed heirs call it into question. The books teem with instances of the inability of smart men, some of them distinguished lawyers, to make a will that will stand under a stiff fight. Lawyers naturally don't want to be associated with a document that may be pronounced bad, and so they are unwilling to sign as witnesses or to let their employees do it. I suppose it to some extent argues a lack of confidence in their work. Anyhow the precaution is of little use, for invariably the lawyer who drew it is disclosed in any litigation over a will."—Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Dana on the Bible.

What books ought you to read? There are some books that are indispensable—a few books. Almost all books have their use, even the silly ones, and an omnivorous reader, if he reads intelligently, need never feel that his time is wasted even when he bestows it on the flimsiest trash that is printed, but there are some books that are absolutely indispensable to the kind of education that we are contemplating and to the profession that we are considering, and of all these the most indispensable, the most useful, is the Bible. There is no book from which more valuable lessons can be learned. I am considering it now not as a religious book, but as a manual of utility, of professional preparation and professional use for a journalist. There is perhaps no book whose style is more suggestive and more instructive, from which you learn more directly that sublime simplicity which never exaggerates, which recounts the greatest events with solemnity, of course, but without sentimentality of affection; none which you open with such confidence and lay down with such reverence. There is no book like the Bible. When you get into a controversy and want exactly the right answer, when you are looking for an expression, what is there that closes a dispute like a verse from the Bible? What is it that sets up the right principle for you, which pleads for a policy, for a cause, so much as the right passage of Holy Scripture?—From a Lecture on "The Art of Newspaper Making."

The English Ironmonger.

In England the iron monger thinks so highly of his business that an applicant who desires to master its secrets must pay a premium for the privilege. An agreement, drawn up with much form and executed in parchment, is signed and sealed, by which the apprentice is bound for at least two years. He usually makes his home with his master. When the time specified has expired, the apprentice blossoms into an assistant and is required to wear an apron, usually of some dark colored material. He must be very profuse in expressing thanks to customers. The prescribed form in serving after a want has been supplied is to inquire: "Is there anything more I may have the pleasure of doing for you?" or, "Madam," or "Sir, where may I have the pleasure of sending this?" as, no matter the size of the parcel, "madam," or "sir" would not think of carrying it. The work hours of the assistant are usually 8 a. m. to 7 p. m., with one hour's allowance for dinner and 30 minutes for tea. The wages vary according to ability. The average per week is from £2 to £3.—Hardware.

Mrs. W. B. Meek, who resides at Camptonville, Cal., says her daughter was for several years troubled at times with cramps in the stomach, and would be in such agony that it was necessary to call a physician. Having read about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhœa Remedy she concluded to try it. She found that it always gave prompt relief. It was seldom necessary to give the second dose. "It has not only saved us lots of worry and time," she says, "but also doctor bills. It is my opinion that every family should have a bottle of this remedy in the house." For sale by all dealers.
